

Press Release

Key Agencies Lack Formal Leadership

PAULINA ENCK | APRIL 26, 2022

More than a year into the Biden Administration, a substantial number of federal agencies lack a Biden-appointed, Senate-confirmed leader. Even amid the highest inflation in a generation, none of the three primary banking regulators has a permanent, Senate-approved chair. Thus, many agency heads in the financial services sector are embarking on critical policy decisions without a congressional mandate.

A new AAF infographic shows the myriad states of ad hoc leadership arrangements under which key financial regulatory agencies are operating.

KEY AGENCIES LACK FORMAL LEADERSHIP

More than a year into the Biden Administration, an unprecedented number of federal agencies lack a Biden-appointed, Senate-confirmed leader. In fact, even as Americans are facing the highest inflation in a generation, none of the three primary banking regulators have permanent, Senate-approved chairs—meaning that these agency heads are embarking on critical policy decisions without a congressional mandate.
